

Saturday, October 08th 2011

This morning we had to get up pretty early because we had to make sure not to miss our plane to Munich. For the last time I had breakfast with my Polish host-family and the Italian guest-student who was also hosted by them. It was still dawning in the morning when we left to school, where the bus would be leaving. After some time of waiting and a warm-hearted Good-Bye we moved off Prostki a bit delayed. There was a calm atmosphere in the bus everyone having got up early. I slept for example almost the whole drive to Warsaw where we arrived earlier than expected. So we had some time at the airport to spend. We mostly used it to buy some souvenirs and to issue our last Zlotys. After having had checked-in we met the students from Oristano once again. Unfortunately we had to say Good-Bye quite soon in order to be in time at the gate for boarding. There we had to wait some time because the plane had arrived late. The relatively short flight was without any bigger events, which made me catch up on the sleep I did not have last night. Having arrived at Munich we said good bye to each other knowing to have had 5 great days together in Poland.

by Philipp Kopper

